DIRECTOR'S Message

Dear Shareholders,

As I complete my final term on Gana-A'Yoo, Limited's Board of Directors, I am reflecting on change and what happens next. I recall my grandmother Martha Joe, of Nulato, telling me as a youth not to be upset or afraid of change, for life is in constant flux.

In college, I credited my grandmother with the saying that "all of life was in flux," rather than the Greeks, and my professor disagreed with me. I told her that my grandmother did not know of the Greeks and certainly did not read Greek philosophy, but she was the one who taught me that all of life was in flux. I would not concede the point and insisted that the credit in the footnote belonged to Martha Joe, my grandmother.

During the time I served as a director, I highly encouraged younger shareholders to pursue seats on the board. I remained adamant that when the younger generation began to gain seats on the board, I would vacate my seat. It happened! I hope that I assisted in their transition to officers on the board.

Per the request of shareholders, the board is working on a process to open enrollment to descendants born after December 18, 1971, when ANCSA became law. This is the beginning of a process of change and transition not only for current shareholders but their descendants as well as future generations of potential board members. To maintain our cultural identity, to succeed in business, to be innovative and creative, we need not only our Elders but our youth and future generations to work together, think, plan and create a successful company with multiple subsidiaries. This is the change we are seeing.

If we work together, share our knowledge, skills, talents and abilities for the good of our people and our corporation, we can succeed. ANCSA passed in 1971, 48 years ago. Nearly half a century of not having shared with our descendants, other than scholarships. That is a long time, and our original shareholders are getting on in years. We as a people, as a business, as a corporation with subsidiaries, need to open our roles, our boards, our committees to these younger people who are 48 years of age or younger. We need to tap their talent, their education, their skills and knowledge to succeed, to maintain our cultural awareness and a place in business and in a changing world.

I hope that you will consider these changes and support the transitions into a new way of doing business, a new way of enrolling our youth and a new way of all working together. It is for our own good and the good of all shareholders, and by supporting open enrollment, you will enable the younger generation to serve on your future boards, thereby ensuring the future of our corporation.

Neglaska took the oath of office and was sworn in on February 22, 2019, to fill a rural director seat valid until May 2020. The Gana-A'Yoo Board of Directors thanks shareholders who expressed interest in fulfilling the remaining term and encourages shareholders to continue pursuing opportunities to serve our communities in one capacity or another.

"In joining the Gana-A'Yoo Board of Directors, my focus will be on education, the economy and protecting the land for our future generations."

BLM RESOURCE MANAGEMENT PLAN

The United States Bureau of Land Management (BLM) is scheduled to release a draft Resource Management Plan (RMP) for the Bering Sea Western-Interior this month and is in the process of working on the Central Yukon RMP, scheduled to be released in May. These areas include the lands in our region.

The BLM 20-year plans form the basis for every action and approved use on BLM's public lands; this has the potential to include access to Gana-A'Yoo lands.

Regional and village corporation landowners are the largest stakeholders within the RMPs; ANCSA lands and village activities will be impacted. ANCSA lands are multiple use lands that include cultural interests, historical and economic use.

Primary concerns include:

Access: Ensuring that restrictive BLM land designations do not prevent shareholders and ANCSA corporations from unrestricted access to their lands.

Customary and traditional uses: Ensuring that management plans specifically allow transportation and land use opportunities for hunting, fishing, trapping and gathering.

Development: Monitoring land designations that may impact limited development for economic opportunities on ANCSA lands.

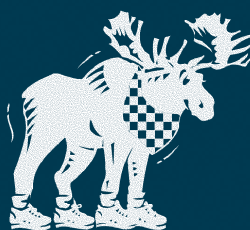

Areas of Critical Environmental Concern (ACECs):
Concerns with excessive size and scope of ACEC designations in current planning efforts as well as ensuring transparency, support by current and sound science, and scrutiny and consistency with the statute in ACEC selection.

The RMPs allow for a 90-day public comment period followed by community meetings. This is the best time to review proposed resource management plans and is your window of opportunity to contact the BLM with any concerns or questions about what has been drafted. The BLM will then analyze the information and should have a Record of Decision and final plan by September 2019 for the Bering Sea Western-Interior and by November 2019 for the Central Yukon.

You can contact Jamie Marunde with Doyon, Limited at 907.459.2000 for more information.

KAIYUH SERVICES, LLC

Kaiyuh Services, LLC, manages a food service contract for the United States Coast Guard in Kodiak, Alaska. Kodiak houses the largest Coast Guard Base in the United States and is home to approximately 600 Coast Guard sailors and their families. Kaiyuh provides full-service galley operations, feeding nearly 250 sailors, family members and civilian workforce employees seven days a week, 365 days a year.

The U.S. Coast Guard falls under the jurisdiction of the Department of Homeland Security and was left without a budget during this year's federal government shutdown. The absence of paychecks impacted the livelihoods of Coast Guard employees around the country, including Kodiak.

The hardship Coast Guard families experienced was not lost on Kaiyuh's galley crew, which decided to provide a helping hand. The opportunity presented itself on Super Bowl Sunday, when Kaiyuh's galley crew arranged to provide a special meal, free of charge, to all Coast Guard members and their families. Over 200 service and family members enjoyed eggs benedict and smoked salmon, happily prepared by Kaiyuh employees.

"The government shutdown affected us all; the galley serves as a 'home away from home' for many of our clientele. We pride ourselves on providing good, home-cooked meals and a space where people can gather and talk and interact like a large family."

- Kim Martinez,
Kaiyuh Services, LLC
Project Manager

"Everyone who attended was very appreciative for the kindness that Kaiyuh displayed. It reflects our values: giving back to our communities and taking care of those in need."

- David Roels,
Kaiyuh Services, LLC
General Manager

Thank You, DICK EVANS

Gana-A'Yoo thanks outgoing member Dick Evans for his years of service on the resource committee. Evans' last meeting was February 21, 2019. Since 2001, Evans has shared his knowledge of our lands.

Evans said he hopes that someone younger will take the time to sit on the resource committee, someone who can travel, hear well, and gain the knowledge and understanding of what it takes to be a productive member.

"It is an interesting time to serve on the resource committee; things seem to be more complicated today and it is important to keep up with everything."

Stock wills are important to our future. Please consider submitting a new or updated stock will. You could be the lucky winner of one of two $500 cash prizes! Those who have submitted a valid stock will within the last five years by May 10, 2019, are entered to win.
